Western Carolina

College is a world in itself. Its thirteen hundred students do not breathe city air or walk city streets; yet they know the same happiness—and perhaps sometimes the same heartbreak—anyone else knows. They bring a way of life from many places and make it a part of the school.

At first there is the confusion of registration, entrance tests, the doubts about choice of major. Later, however, order emerges from the chaos, and the students settle down to the pattern of living that is Western Carolina.

In winter, when the snow covers the mountains, they slide down hills on cafeteria trays; in spring they sunbathe. They joke about Joyner and its ivy and laugh at the "dear John" letter a pal receives.

The simple courtesies, the friendly hellos, the church bells on Sunday morning, the work and the play, the tears and the laughter . . . this is Western Carolina College.

 ... we, the senior class of 1958,
 affectionately dedicate
 the 1958 Catamount.

PRESIDENT PAUL A. REID

After a year of distinguished service as Assistant Director of the North Carolina Board of Higher Education, Dr. Reid has returned to become once more the president of Western Carolina College. During President Reid's first administration, 1949-1950, the college prospered in every field of its activity; with his return we look forward confidently to an even richer future.

ALMA MATER
By W. E. Bird

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Faithful, kind and true.
Every son and every daughter
Offers praise to you.

(Chorus)

Hail to the dearest spot of all;
Hail to Cullowhee!
Light and life and fond devotion,
All we owe to thee.

Purple shrouds and colors golden
Streaming everywhere
Swell our hearts with pride for olden
Days and friendship dear.

Under shade trees, friendly bowers
Voices, ever gay
Mingle with the breath of flowers
And the song bird's lay.

Shout aloud with one long chorus,
Voices full and free,
Teachers for us, God up o'er us,
Praise to Cullowhee!

S E N I O R S

Seniors have seen many changes at W. C. C. Polly Danials, Bob Jackson, Mickey Carter and Jim Rogers stand near the location of the old classroom building which is now the sight of the future cafeteria.

The senior realizes that knowledge is the tool he will be using in the very near future. He strives to learn as much as possible.

The senior is a freshman with experience. He avoids eight o'clock classes and takes traffic light, curfews, and dormitory inspections as necessary evils.

He talks nostalgically of the old classroom building and the whistle on the steam plant; but for the first time he eats biscuits in the cafeteria, watches television in the Student Union, and bowls in the new gymnasium.

He has read Thomas Gray's "Elegy" and W. E. Bird's "Alma Mater." His experiences with Asian flu and a pantie raid have been invaluable in equipping him to face the near and unfamiliar future.

At least we've completed this much!

Studying is a major part of the junior's life. He studies between classes, ballgames, visits to the college shop, eating and sacking out.

Dancing is a favorite pastime of the Juniors. Here Mollie Hamlin takes the floor with Bobby Kuykendall. With general education past, and graduation yet to come, juniors are for socializing.

Juniors

The junior is the campus butterfly — never lighting for long in one place. He is extremely hard to locate, since his time is divided between the classroom and the Laboratory School, the dormitory and the Town House, the cafeteria and the library. He dates as often as he can and has his name on numerous club rolls. Since he does not take P. E., he works out his schedule so that most of Tuesday and Thursday is free.

He wears his new class ring and pre-registers. At all times he is—or at least he seems to be—a confident, well-adjusted individual.

Juniors never seem to stay in one place long enough to "hang their coats." Here junior boys Roger McCrosson, Charles Heygood, and "Cuddy" White inspire junior girls Barbara Pugh and Mary Sue Shelton with a typical college joke.

The sophomore is always willing to give advice to the "new-comers" about things that he learned when he was a freshman.

Sophomores maintain their upperclassman superiority.

Sophomores

Sophomores go about campus with sophomore dignity.

The sophomore is a seasoned scholar. He speaks knowingly to the freshmen about "crip" courses and "hard" instructors. He attends lyceums and thinks about changing his major. Life takes on added meaning for him when he discovers that the infirmary distributes a red and white pill guaranteed to cure any sickness.

He memorizes three hundred lines of poetry, completes his required courses, and thinks once again about changing his major.

The sophomore is a friendly campus celebrity.

"Let's get things straight."

Dating in closed study is a fall quarter activity for freshmen girls. Here Gwen Pearson sighs at Joe Pendleton on a 7:00 to 9:30 date.

Freshmen

The freshman is a rough diamond. He has equipped himself for college with a high school yearbook, a new pair of pajamas, and a green beanie. He soon puts the yearbook and pajamas away; but he wears the beanie with pride, not yet realizing that something other than a skull warrants a place beneath it.

Sophistication is one of his aims, so he learns to smoke, drink coffee, and talk about sex without blushing. He dances in the Student Union and sees squeeze-o-scope movies in Hoey. He does everything and questions nothing.

His first year ends, and he is content with the knowledge that good English is not an evil and that Breese is not an instructor.

Freshmen girls look up to the athletes at W. C. C. ...Basketball center Bill Wilson poses with three of his fans, Ann Jenkins, Anita Maness and Marie Crowder.

Walking up from the Town House, a group of freshmen enjoy their first mountain winter. Students are Sylvia Smith, Jack Spady, Anita Maness, Marie Crowder, Kenny Stephens, and Charles Holmes.

Student Government is a central part of the educational process, existing because a group of individuals feel it is necessary to create an organ to which they surrender a measure of their autonomy in order to achieve a common set of goals. The student is differentiated from the rest of society by his desire to develop his intellectual powers through a more or less formal course of instruction. The development of intellectual powers is not confined to the university experience, but the college student has this as his central goal. In order to achieve this goal, certain prerequisites must be obtained from society, and this need causes students to organize student government to act in their behalf.

AN ATHLETE'S PRAYER

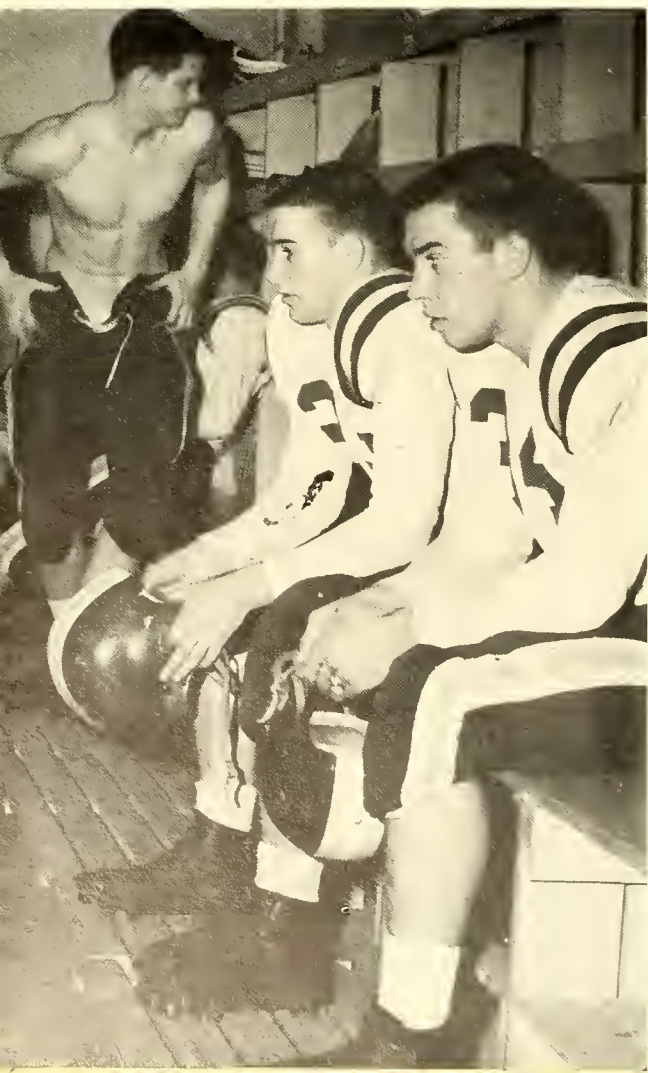

Our God, our one Head Coach divine,
Guide us through life's playing time.
Teach us how to play the game
Only in a sporting vein,
Endow us with the will to win,
With a spirit striving from within.
And Coach, teach us as we live and learn
To expect only what we rightly earn.
Quitting never; though discouraged, be
Ever true to self, to team, to Ther.
Keep us clean in speech and thought,
In living, and in living as we ought.
Of hate and envy keep us free,
For more deserving man than we.
Prepare us now in friendly strife
On the playing field of life.
And someday, Mister, Coach Supreme,
Let us play on your great team.

The Alpha Phi Sigma is an honorary organization with two objectives. The first is to encourage scholarship and the second is to reward scholarship. To become a member of the fraternity, a student must be on the Alpha Honor Roll for five consecutive quarters.

The Alpha Phi Sigma is not a club in the usual sense, but is the Zeta Chapter of the national Alpha Phi Sigma, whose sole purpose is to promote intellectual and scholastic development on the campus.

Each year the fraternity sponsors the Alumni Homecoming Tea.

Alpha Psi Omega is a national honorary dramatics fraternity. Membership is based not only on meritorious work in dramatics, but also on other factors such as cooperation, reliability, and conscientious regard for others in the theater. Membership is by invitation only. Its purpose is to promote better college dramatic productions and to provide a fellowship among students who are particularly interested in dramatics.

Sigma Theta Pi Sorority was organized at Western Carolina College in 1957. It's main objectives are to promote culture, scholastic achievement, enthusiasm, loyalty, and to uphold the standards of this institution.

The sorority sponsors various dances, both for the whole school and for members alone, as well as teas and other social activities. Its members are very active in student government, publications, and other campus extra-curricular activities.

In the near future Sigma Theta Pi plans to become a member of a national sorority.

Chi Delta Fraternity was founded on February 1, 1957, becoming the first social fraternity on campus. During the year the brothers worked together as a team; achieving many outstanding goals. Some of these being: a scholarship fund for a deserving W.C.C. student, the publication of a student directory, participation in the Homecoming parade, and the sponsorship of the ambulance fund-raising drive.

Chi Delta takes an active part in all campus activities, including student government, clubs, and intramurals.

As this yearbook goes to press the faculty committee on fraternities has given Chi Delta the green light to go national with Kappa Sigma Kappa.

Gamma Tau Fraternity was founded on October 7, 1957. Gamma Tau strives to bind men together in a brotherhood based upon eternal principles, to teach that true men should stand together for the supremacy of good over evil, and to foster the recognition of true merit wherever deserved.

The chapter avidly supports member participation in sports, student government, publications, and particularly scholarship.

Activities of Gamma Tau's first year include dances, hikes, barbecues, and participation in intramural sports.

Gamma Tau has various plans for the future; its main objective is to acquire membership with the Alpha Tau Omega National Fraternity.

Lambda Phi Kappa Fraternity was founded on October 7, 1957, and on February 27, 1958, was granted Affiliation with Tau Kappa Epsilon National Fraternity. The founders established a fraternity of men chosen "not for their wealth, rank, nor honor, but for their personal worth and character."

LPK emphasizes the importance of careful balancing of social activities, scholastic work, and participation in the extra-curricular program of the college. The fraternity has prided itself on the interest its members have shown in sports, student government, publications, and above all, scholarship.

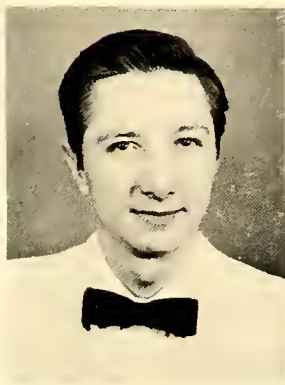

Highlights of the LPK social calendar include the Sweetheart Ball, Founder's Day Banquet, and monthly parties. A LPK Sweetheart is chosen each month.
